The brother of two sisters Drew painfully his breath; A strange fear had come o'er him, For love was strong in death. The fire of fatal fever Burned darkly on his cheek; And often to his mother He spoke, or tried to speak.

He said, "The quiet moonlight, Beneath the shadowed hill, Seem'd dreaming of good angels, While all the woods were still; I felt, as if from slumber I never could awake; Oh, mother, give me something To cherish for your sake!

"A cold, dead weight is on me, A heavy weight, 'ke lead; My hands and feet seem sinking Quite through my little bed; I am so tired, so weary-With weariness I ache; Oh, mother, give me something To cherish for your sake! "Some little token give me,

Which I may kiss in sleep, To make me feel I'm near you, And bless you though I weep. My sisters say I'm better-But, then, their heads they shake; Oh, mother, give me something To cherish for your sake! "Why can't I see the poplars?

Why can't I see the hill, Where, dreaming of good angels, The moonbeams lay so still? Why can't I see you, mother? I surely am awake; Oh, haste! and give me something To cherish for your sake!"

The little bosom heaves not; The fire hath left his cheek; The fine chord-is it broken? The strong chord-could it break Ah, yes! the loving spirit Hath wing'd its flight away; A mother and two sisters Look down on lifeless clay.

From the Hartford Journal. On the Death of Mrs. S. Pitkin, Widow of the late Colonel Samuel Pitkin of East Hartford.

How beautiful the pure in heart go up THE Subscriber having for a long time given To see their God. The spoiler hath his will, his attention to the construction and operation | Or seems to have, upon the moveless pulse Is in His hand, the ever strong to save, Whom they have trusted; and His bidding done, Meek and unswerving.

Thus it was with her, Who, at the birth of this first wint'ry morn, Laid down the burdens of mortality. The placid beauty of an earlier date Still linger'd round her features, and her eve With its deep, loving lustre, spoke of peace That the world could not give. Even in her hours Of dark bereavment, not a shadow stole Between her hope, and Him who chasten'd it But making still His holy will her own, She gather'd joy from sorrow.

Many a heart Oft 'neath the shelter of her mansion cheer'd, Will miss her warmth of hospitality, And the free bounty by her hand dispens'd To ignorance and want. For she had been A succourer of many—and her name Is unto them, as a remember'd breath Born of sweet, summer flowers.

And thus she stood, Clad in the panoply of faith and prayer, Serenely on the verge of fourscore years-Prompt at her Master's call, and ripe for heaven Then, leaning on the breast of filial love, Took her last, peaceful sleep.

So beautiful, L. H. S.

Printing instead of Writing.

Charles Thurber, Esq, one of the County Commissioners for Worcester county, has inven ted a machine, by which by means of types connected with keys, one may print instead of writing. THE POOR RELATION.

The morning which succeeded that on which the Poor Relation had so exposed her vulgar poverty in Swan Vale, found its fair-no-its deep red mistress in a sad state of nervous excitement. She burned with intense and indignant excitement to turn that abominable Miss Malapropos out of her hospitable doors; but been either less blundering or less mischievous:

Everbody declared that they never, never! For the convenience of our city friends, orders had spent such a delightful evening in the whole course of their lives. The oldest, who had so er be pleased secretly of opinion that he came for

Never had they been so well amused, never so new supply of Smith's Geography and Atlas, delightfully entertained, as at dear MrsMackilnew edition, with the Atlas bound in stiff, lop's. And then that dear, queer piece of drollery, that Poor Relation, she was a treat in herself. It was so judicious, of kind Mrs Mackillop to bring such an original—so amusing—so simple-such a character-amongst them. fact it was perfectly true that the Poor Relation had made herself the lion of the whole party ---What for wonder and what for wantonness, she had been the observed of all observers. Her playing was that of a professor-she had guttrelled German with a Hamburgher, and Italian [This poem is founded on a fact, witnessed with a Neapolitan-had sung duetts with all the pany, both in the letter and the spirit. What a governess she would make for the children!' exclaimed Mrs. Mackillop; 'but then what a nuisance she would be to myself! How splendidly she played, but then how provoking-ly she talked-German, Italian, and Frenc'; she had at her fingers' end-not your tongues that nobody can understand ;-French, that you must be told that it is French and German that wants to be labelled; and Italian like English in disguise-but the real genuine language. All the true smack and flavor, like their own sausages, strong and unmistakeable upon them. And then such playing-why they would have her at the opera!; and singing—I have her squalls ringing through my head now! Why, such a proficient in everything as she is, she might easily have a hundred a year as governess; and if I could get her for nothing-or for some ten pounds or soand perhaps her washing-why, what a bargain it would be! But then on the other hand, to be subjected to such a nuisance of a creature! a thing that neither cares nor thinks what she says! a wild harum-scarum, sort of gone-mad person-a crack-brained affair, that won't hold her tongue and won't be silenced; that won't take a wink, or hear an aside, or understand a frown-why, who could tolerate such an affronting absurdity? Still, it I could tame her, she would be very useful. If Rachel could play and sing in her style-there are many men, especially idle rich men, who are caught by the ear; well at any rate, I have got her for a week or two, and I must see if I can't reduce her to useful order. If I find it impossible, I must of course contrive to affront her, and get rid of her -1 should think I could easily do that ' Mrs. Mackillop having thus mentally arranged her line of tactics, proceeded at once to put her plans into execution. A certain innate perception that she was exceedingly to be worsted in a personal encounter of words with the Poor Relation, induced her like many other cowardly people, to shrink from first-hand conflict with her, and consequently, instead of speaking plainly, she commenced a system of manœuvring --Her first step was to order her own breakfast in her dressing room, on plea of indisposition, and the childrens' in the school-room, so that the Poor Relation might be drilled into knowing that Abernethy's chairs, weak tea, and the nur-sery were to fall to her share; her second was to instruct her boys to ask for German lessons, merely by way of occupation, and the girls, to request that she would just be so good as to help them in the pronunciation of a few French words, or to assist them in translating a page or two of Italian; then one was to ask her to develope a few new stitches of embroider; and a :other to request a lesson in her pretty little Italian hand; and above all each of the girls was to extract a singing lesson, to be as long as possible, and this without fail, since it was most of all matter of importance; and when these tew and a dozen or two of other trifling parts of the educational process had been gone through, and the children's nursery dinner had been served at which she was to be kindly made to preside, why then Rachel was to ask her to accompany them in their usual ramble, during which time Mrs. Mackillop would take her own meal in the duning-room; and so by dint of a little of that admirable management on which the lady piqued herself the Poor Relation might be safely got through her first day's drilling as honorary governess and by persevering in this line of discipline, she would afterwards know her own

As for the evenings, Mrs Mackillop thought it would be kind and liberal to allow her to come into the drawing room, of course only till she could be taught to conduct herself properly, and of course to act as family working musician .--Now these laboring players are very useful articles of modern furniture. If it is true that though very few people are really fond of music, every body thinks it incumbent on them to pretend to be so, and whenever people are stupid in society, and neither rationally, nor intellectually, nor conversationally inclined, and the talking is more by full stops than exclamations & interrogations, why then it is a capital thing to have a hard working person to sit down to an instrument with never-tiring India-rubber-fingers, and nerves made on the same principle of manufacture. A company can, in such a case, be as stupid as may be agreeable-or disagreeable—to themselves.

Well things went on delightfully. The Poor

Relation did take her breckfast in the school room with the children, did guttrel out German with the boys, did squall out Italian with the girls, did elocutionize French with a fine masal twang, did make the noor piano tumble out such sounds as it never rumbled out before, did walk out with the children; -and, in fact really performed all the hard work which Mrs Mackillop had laid out for her; even to that lady's own unconscionable satisfaction. Every thing went on well. The system worked delightfully. The children had been in extraordinary good humor, for the Poor relation had been in such wonderful high-spirits, had been so very witty and epigrammatic, and withal had seemed so amused the whole day, laughing very merrily at each fresh requisition of her talents, yet complying so good humoredly, that when evening came, the children seemed to thing they had enjoyed quite a jubilee, and Mrs. Mackillop was more than ever *ncouraged to admit her into the drowing room, seeing that she had behaved so very respectable then had she only been better behaved; if she had and deserved some encouragement. It happened, too, that Mrs Mackillop herelf was in very what an acquisition she would have proved, and good humor, for Squire Harrowby had dropped what a good thing it would have been to have in sans ceremonie, apologizing for paying an evening visit instead of a morning one and in the elevation of her satisfaction, the lady of Swan Vale gave him a cartethlanche to com · whenevmuch to forget, and the youngest, who had so much to remember, all declared that Mrs Mac-killop's company that night was perfect cream.

REMOVAL.

The Whig and Courier Office has been removed to the spacious room in the second story of the Kenduskeag Market.

Arrival of the Hibernia at Boston-The State Trials in Ireland.

Tae Hibernia arrived at Boston on Wednesday

Foremost amongst the topics of domestic interest, is the visit which the young and buoyant Queen of England has been paying to her Prime Minister, whose hospitable mansion she left on Friday on a round of elegant festivities, to the Dukes of Devonshire and Rutland.

The papers relate a melancholy event that took place in the village of Willersey, Gloucestershire, where a fire broke out in a private house and seven persons were burned alive!

The latest accounts from the Cape of Good Hope represent the Caffre frontier as in a state of great alarm, on account of the continued hostilities and inroads of the natives.

Ireland.

The state trials have been adjourned until the 15th of January, and O'Connell, weary of agitation, has retired for a while to his "mountain home" at Derrynane. He is to take Limerick on his way to the " far west," where a dinner is to be given on Monday next to Mr. W. S. O'Brien, one of the members for the county, a recent convert to repeal, at which the agitator presides.

The Ballyshanuon Herald says-"The government are in possession of some frightful information respecting Ireland : there can be no doubt of it .-The Attorney General mentioned last week in court, that when the proper time arrives, he will lay before the jury, on the trial of the conspirators a statement of as frightful and extensive a conspiracy against the peace of the country and the constitution by law established, as ever disgraced any country.

We understand the information has been communicated by a few of the leading repealers, who became alarmed at the height to which the conspiracy had arrived. Preparations are making by the military stationed in this town for fortifying the barracks; port-holes are made in the walls, bags of san & have been provided, and a number of barrels have been filled with water, to be kept in the yard for the use of the military in case of a siege. It is said that large quantities of pikes and other weapons are in process of manufacture throughout the country -that fire arms are in great abundance-and that a rising may be expected before the winter closes.

With the exception of Spain, where there has been a "ministerial crisis," which has terminated in the appointment of Olozaga, as Premier, the rest of the news from the Continent present nothing worth mentioning. Rumor, indeed, states that there is a screw loose between Louis Phillippe and the Emperor of Russia-that the latter has withdrawn from the conference of London-and that annoyed at recent events in Greece, and fearing that the infectious spirit of revolution should spread to Turkey, he has determined to march an army of observation to the frontiers of this country.

India.

The Indian mail of the 1st of November has arrived. The intelligence which it brings is of considerable importance.

The affairs of the Punjab continue to engross public attention. This heterogeneous kingdom, which was conquored by Runjeet Singh by means of the European officers whom he employed in his service, is now on the verge of dissolution. Four kings have ruled it since 1839, and the age of the present sovereign is but seven years, and even his legitamacy is questioned, for he is publicly said not to be the son of Runjeet, which fact was pretended by Dhyan Singh, in order to conciliate the goodwill of the enthusiastic adherents of the "Old Lion of Lahore."

China.

The news from China is to the 28th of August.-The state of business, with the exception of the coasting trade, does not appear satisfactory at Hong Kong, so that many of the merchants declined going there. Sickness existed there to a considerable extent. Opium was not to be protected by the British and yet the smuggling continued to prosper, The Bogue forts were rebuilt in nearly the same state as before. The Chinese Government had claimed 4,000,000 dollars from the Hong merchents as a contribution on account of the Canton ransom-The Emperor had issued several proclamations, exhibiting a wish to protect" the foreign barbarians.' and to punish those officers who had maltreated the sailors that were shipwrecked in the Nerbudda and Anna in the beginning of 1842.

To Correspondents.

We have received several communications, arguing in favor of the course adopted by the Overseers of the Poor, in attempting to have every town support its own paupers. Also, speaking of the labors, trials, and anxieties of the Overseers of the Poor, and the justice of giving them a generous support. This is all well, but as nobedy, to our knowledge, controverts these points, and nothing has transpired to lead to the supposition that all this matter is not understood and appreciated, we do not deem it necessary to publish these articles.

We have on hand some communications alluding to matters likely to revive much unpleasant feeling connected with the return of the military companies from Boston, after the celebration of the 17th of June. These articles are ably written and have some sharp points, but on the whole gentlemen, it this subject should be opened in its length and breadth, as it would likely to be by the publication of these articles, we should have a long controversy of a religious character, the effect of which would be to excite, more than to enlighten. Our judgment is, at present, opposed to such a controversy, and therefore against furnishing the means of its com-

Fire at Bradford.

We are informed by Mr. J. W. Norcross, that the tavern house at Bradford, kept by Mr. J. Palmer, was entirely consumed by fire yesterday morning, at about three o'clock. It seems that the family and it I was struck with the striking coincidence several persons who had put up for the night, were suddenly alarmed at about three o'clock in the morning, by the shed and part of the house being in flames, Some escaped in their night clothes only, and so rapidly did the flames spread, that the mother, having two children in her arms, in attempting to escape, was considerably, though not dangerously, burnt-one of the children, while in its mother's arms, had its face much burnt. It is supposed the fire took in the shed, from a vessel of hot ashes.

An elegant sleigh and harness, and two buffalo robes, belonging to Mr. Danforth, of this city, were entirely consumed, before any one awoke in the house. There was no insurance on the property.

At a recent meeting of the loco party in Georgia to appoint delegates to the National Convention a Preamble and resolutions were adopted instructing the delegates to call upon the "Democratic party" by public resolutions, to oppose the nomination of any candidate for the Presidence by the National Convention tomeet at Baltimore but that the nomination of a candidate be left with each state. The party in Georgia state their belief in the utter impossibility of agreeing to any Compromise at Baltimore that will be satisfactory and that it is better to let the matter go to the House of Representative than to embrace certain defeat on an election by a popu-

IT Washington letter writers generally agree that in all the experience of office seeking, at Washington, there never was any thing like the present, either in the number of the swarm, or the pertinacity with which the claims of each are urged. The Loco members of the House of Representatives, are fastened upon and implored, beyond precedent. Old men and boys urge their own claims, and those of friends and parents.

One of these writers thus speaks :-

"While on this subject of office-seeking, I will remark, as a matter of long delayed justice to the whigs, (those conversant with the fact having thought proper, for reasons to themselves good and sufficient, to withhold it) that, after the treason of John Tyler, and he had appealed to the Democracy falsely so ealled, to sustain his Administration, the applicants for office that suddenly rose up from among that school of politicisms far out numbered that of the Whigs, during the Presidency of General Harrison. and about which so much was trumpeted forth, at the time, by the opposition press. I assert this, on my own knowledge of its truthfulness-and the Whig press of the country, owe it to the party it sustains, to put it on record."

Wool and wool skins now create an animated trade in our city at prices far in advance of previous years for a long time. The high prices is a great temptation for people to kill off most of their flocks. The farmers, in this business cannot fail to discover one of the advantages of a Protective Tariffas insisted upon by the Whigs and opposed by the loco party and by their leader r. Van Buren.

Our readers will notice by the advertisement of Mr. C. Shed, that he has returned to this city. and is in readiness to teach the useful and elegant art of writing to all who apply. Mr. Shed has been long in the business and is a good teacher. His advertisement is a better specimen of writing than any we have ever seen in our office.

We have received from the publishers, Messrs. Greely & McElrath, of New York, the Whig Almanac, for 1844. This is an elegant, well arranged Almanac, and contains a large amount of valuable matter, which should be widely circulated. The Whigs of the country, in providing themselves with an Almanac for the new year, should, if possible, obtain a copy of this work.

Clay Club.

There was a large and enthusiastic meeting of the Whigs at the City Hall, last evening, and a Clay Club was organized.

Governor Kent made an eloquent and patriotic Address on the occasion, which was received with guest applause; and the meeting adjourned at a late hour after singing a capital political song. We shall have more to say on this subject to-morrrow.

To the Editor of the Whig & Courier:

day, I came across the following address, which I had the curiosity to read, and upon perasing between it and portion of the President's late Message. Whether that coincidence was the result of accident, whether the message and address are the product, in part, of the same brain, you and your readers can judge. For my own part, considering the sloppy nature of the message, I am inclined to think that Wishee-Washee, if not its parent, was, at least, present at the delivery. Yours. POCAHONTAS.

Dec. 12, 1843.

has existed for so long a time between the Semmoles and the United States, has, since the battle which resulted in the overthrow of the force under Major Dade, consisted, for the most part, of predatory excursions, which, while they have been atttended with much of suffering to individuals, and have kept the borders of the two countries in a state of constant alarm, have failed to approach to any definite result. The United states have fitted out no adequate armament by land or by sea, for the subjugation of the Seminoles. Nearly six years have elapsed ity as the classical scholar, the art of making a pubof the United States; and during that time they have been regarded as, of right, a Sovereign people by several of the principal tribes. The United States, nevertheless, perseveres in her plan of reconquest, and refuses to recognize their independence. The predatory incursions to which I have alluded, have been attended, in many instances, with the breaking up of families; by the seizing upon the persons of defenceless squaws, and driving them along, with unarmed, and therefore non-combatant, children, into a cruel and oppressive banishment, thus sundering the sacred ties which bound them to the loved" land of THEIR fathers.'

A border warfare is evermore to be deprecated, and over such a war as has existed for so many years between these two people, humanity has great cause to lament. Nor is such a condition of things to be deplored only because of the individual suffering attendant upon it. The effect is far moree xtensive.

The Creator of the Universe has given Man the Earth for his resting place, and fruits for his subsistence. Whatever, therefore, shall make the first, or any part of it, a scene of desolation, affects injuriously his heritage, and may be regarded as a general calamity. Wars may sometimes be necessary; but all nations have a common interest in bringing them speedily to a

The Sacs and Foxes have an immediate interest in seeing an end put to the state of hostilities existing between the United States and the Seminoles. They are our neighbors, of the same continent, with whom we are not only desirous of cultivating the relations of amity, but of the most extended commercial intercourse, and to practice all the rights of a neighbourhood hospitality. Our own interests are deeply involved in this matter, since, however neutral may be our course of policy, we cannot hope to escape the effects of a spirit of jealousy on the part of both the powers. Nor can this Council, composed as it is of the chiefs of the brave Sacs and Foxes, be indifferent to the fact that, a warfare, such as is waged between those nations, is calculated to weaken both powers, and finally to render them, and especially the weaker of the two, the subject of interference on the part of stronger and more powerful nations, which, intent only on advancing their own peculiar views, may sooner or later attempt to bring about a compliance with terms as to condition of their interposition, alike derogatory to the nation granting them, and detrimental to the interest of the Sacs and Foxes.

We could not be expected quietly to permit any such interference to our disadvantage.-Considering that the Seminoles speak language derived from the same fountain, and live under similar political institutions with ourselves, we are bound by every consideration of interest, as well as of sympathy, to see that they shall be left free to act, especially in regard to their domestic affairs, unawed by force, and unrestrained by the policy or views of other countries. In full view of these considerations, and acting by the advice of your brave chiefs, I have not hesitated to express to the Government of the United States, how deeply we deprecate a continuance of the war, and how anxiously we desire its termination. I cannot but think it becomes us, in view of the position we hold among the Indian Tribes, to hold a language to the United States upon this subject, of an unambiguous character. it is time this war had ceased.

There must be a limit to all wars, and if a nation, after a six years' struggle, has failed to reduce to submission a portion of those whom it would make its subjects, standing out in opposition to it, and who, of right, ought to be independent, and which right has been recognized by other Tribes and Powers, she ought not to expect that these other Powers will look quietly on, to their obvious injury, upon a protraction of hostilities. The same United States threw off their Colonial dependence, and established independent Governments, and Great Britain, after having wasted her energies in an attempt to subdue them for about the same period that the United States have attempted to subjugate the Seminoles, had the wisdom and justice to acknowledge their independence, thereby recognizing the obligations which rested on her as one of the family of nations. Such an example, it would, in no way, disparage the United States to follow, while, therefore, your Chiefs would deplore any collision with the United States.— They cannot permit that Government to control their policy, whatever it may be, towards the Seminoles, but will treat them as, by the recognition of their rights, you have long since declared you would do as freed from their subjugation to the United States. The high obli-gations of public duty may enforce from your Chiefs a policy which the course persevered in by the United States will have mainly contributed to produce; and, in such a contingency, your chiefs will, with confidence, throw themselves upon the patriotism of the people, to sustain them in their course of action. Given in the Year One Thousand Eight Hundred and Forty-One. By Order of the Council, NANCEE WISHEE-WASHEE.

The United States Board of Commissioners. it is said, have spent $18,000 in testing inventions of steam boilers, and have given a decision in favor of that of Major Raub. The commissioners finished their report on the 28th Nov. and we shall soon have all the facts.

Free Public Discussions.

In looking over a file of old papers the other To the Editor of the Whig & Courier :

From the interesting and able lecture before the Lyceum, by Professon Shepherd, upon the character of Fox, we learned, among other things, what every one knows, or ought to know, viz. that it is impossible to become a good Public Speaker without constant practice. But with this admitted knowledge, how few practically give exedit to what they acknowledge as a fact. Even with the opportunities presented, there seems to be no desire to effectually embrace this most needful desideratum -this important branch of education. The want of a practical investment of this kind of capital, may arise from the consideration, that public meetings, although of a public nature, are, in themselves, somewhat exclusive, and the doings are to be con-WARRIORS AND BROTHERS: The war, which fined and understood so, to some few leaders. Now the truth is there never ought to be any thing of the kind in existence as public leaders, and I am decidedly of opinion that there would be nothing of this, if all, without distinction of learning, or mere superficial differences, were to assume their just rights and put forth their voices, even if but by one single word.

Men of but little learning, or even ordinary pow ers of conversation, may attain, with as much tacilsince the Seminoles declared their independence lie speech or harangue, and this, too, with even more real eloquence. Some may be disposed to deny this; but why should they? True eloquence does not consist in multiplicity of words, or in the knowledge of the whole vocabulary. For how many men there are of great learning, united with as much boldness and energy of character as are requisite to make them good speakers, who fail in their attempts. Eloquence consists, rather, in the energy of expression-in the selection of a wordin the manner-in the appearance of the man him-

This is often exemplified in persons of limited learning in defending themselves or others, in whom they feel a deep interest. Those who listen express their wonder and astonishment-at what? the learning? No, the effect. This, then, is all that is wanted.

Is there no way, Mr. Editor, to bring together those of our citizens who would like to have a free public debate as often as once a week? It is true we have the Mechanics Association, Mercantile Association, and Lyceum; but where is the association, based upon equal privileges to all? where any, who please, can go and say a word, and feel that they have a right to do so?

Were it not that I am so situated as to age and other circumstances, as to preclude active efforts on my part, I would most cheerfully do what I could for the attainment of this object. It appears to me, however, that there are enough who will at once take hold of it in such a manner as to ensure success. Should circumstances admit, I shall certainly be most happy to be considered a member, though a silent one, and willing to pay my proportion of the expense, even if it amount to five dollars, knowing I shall receive the value. " MONTANO."

Six-I have been for many years a sufferer from the ravages of Scroula and Cancerous Humors, which at lust seated on the vitals, and exhibited all the threatening symptoms of consumption. The general mutility of all remedies awakened my enquiries asto the thousand different methods of cure, to most of which I had recourse without receiving benefit. I accidentally noticed a remarkable cure by Lorraine's Pills, and was induced to give them a trial. I sent to Boston and got a box. By the use of them I found immediate relief and was soon re stored to a perfect state of health. J. E. NEWHALL.

THE CONDITION.

The condition upon which nature gives health to man, is a watchful care to keep his stomach and bowels free from morbid and unhealthy accumulations. Lorraine's Pills admirably effect this, because they cleanse the bowels and purify the blood. The human body is always healthy when the bowels are regular, the blood circulates freely, and disease invariably commences when obstructions take place in the bowels. The extraordinary virtues of Lorraine's Pil.s depends upon extracts of over 50 different vegetables, all so admirably combined as to purify, Acurish and

Dr. D. Jayne's FAMILY MEDICINES.

JAYNE'S EXPECTORANT.

THIS invaluable medicine is daily effecting some of the most astonishing and wonderful cures that have ever been known. All who have used it for Asthma, Conghs, Spitting of Blood, Whooping Cough, Croup or Hives, Consumption, Chronic Pleurisy, Houseness, Pain and Soreness of the Breast, Difficulty of Breathing, and avery other disease of the LUNGS and BREAST, cun and do attest to its usefulness. BRONCHITIS, a disand do attest to its usefulness. BRONCHITIS, a disease which is annually sweeping thousands upon thouease which is annually sweeping thousands upon thousands to a premature grave, under the mistaken name of CONSUMPTION, is always cured by it. The usual symptoms of this disease, Bionchitis, are Cough, Soreness of the Lungs or Thront, Hourseness, Difficulty of Breathing, Asthma, Hectic Fever, a Spitting up of Thlegm, or Matter, and sometimes Blood. It is an influence of the fine skin which lines the inside of the dammation of the fine skin which lines the inside of the whole of the wind tubes or air vessels, which run throu every part of the Lungs. The Expectorant immediately suppresses the Cough, Pain, Inflammation, Fever and Difficulty of Breathing, and produces a free und easy expectoration, and a cure is soon effected.

It always cures ASTHMA. Two or three large doses will cure the CROUP, or HIVES of children, in from 15 minutes to an hour's time. It immediately subdues the violence of WHOOPING COUGH, and effects a speedy cure. Hundreds who have been given up by their physicians as incarable with CONSUMPTION, have been sicians as incurable with CONSUMPTION, have been restored to perfect health by it.

If this Expectorant be given in the commencement of PLEURISY, INFLAMMATION OF THE LUNGS, or in scute RHEUMATISM, in doses sufficiently large, so as to cause a little names for some time, going to bed and covering up warm, it will produce perspiration, and subdue these affections at once.

WORMS IN CHILDREN. Of all diseases to which children are exposed, none are so fatul to them as Worms. Unfortunately, children are suldom free from them, and as they imitate the symptoms of almost every other complaint, they often produce alarming effects without being suspected. They are not only a course of disease themselves, but by their irritation aggravate all other diseases, wandering from one part of the body to another, winding themselves up into large balls, and ob-structing the bowels, and frequently the throat, causing convulsions, and too often de th. The desired remedy convulsions, and too often de th. The desired remedy will be found in Dr. JAYNE'S TONIC VERMIFUGE which will very soon destroy the worms, and invigorate the powers of digestion so as to prevent a return of them. PRICE 50 cents.

Jayne's Sanative Pills.

These Pills are an excellent, mild and safe purge at all times, and are exceedingly useful in Dyspepsy and obstructions of the Liver. Persons taking them can eat and drink as usual, withour fear of injury, and, what is of infinite advantage, making the use of mercurial preparations, so frequently used in derangements of the stomach and liver, unnecessary.

These Pills may be taken at all times, and are beneficial in nearly all diseases. They have long been a favorthe prescription of the proprietor for all obstructions of ly pronounced it an ite prescription of the proprietor for all obstructions of the Liver, Spleen, Kidneys, Uterus, and all other organs of the body—Inflammatory, Intermittent, Remittent, Bilious, and every other form of Fever.—Jaundice and Liver Complaint. For Dyspepsy they are really an invaluable article, gradually changing the vitiated secretions of the stomach, and producing healthy action in that important organ. They are very valuable in disease of the Skin, and for what is commonly called "impurity of the blood"; also for Female Complaints, Costiveness, &c. &c.—and in fact every disease where an Apericant, Alterative or Purgative medicine is required. THE SICK HEADACHE.

HIS DISEASE is one from which arises more L misery to the human family than is generally supposed; not being directly fatal, it is often neglected, or persons resort so much to the use of purgatives and other medicines as to impair their general health, and often induce fatal diseases. The article-Dr. Spohn's HEADACHE REMEDY, now offered seems to have overcome these difficulties. While its effects are most powerful and immediate in curing an attack or keeping it off, it is so perfeetly mild and innocent as to be used for infants with the greatest effect and safety. This has now been tested by so many of the highest members of this community as to require no further proof.

These fraudulent Swindlers could never pass of their vile wares upon the public but for the count vance and assistance of self-styled respectable Druggists, who, for the sake of a little "fifthy lucre," lend themselves to the monstrous and uphallowed system of imposition. The counterfener of a popular medicine is more criminal than a counterfeiter of current money. The injuries done by the latter sink to nothing in comparison with those inflicted upon society by the former We might paint him wringing the mite from the hard hand of invalid penury which is extended for the hoos of of invalid pennsy winds as calculation demon of health, and receives instead the vile drug that protracts and aggravates disease, or to view it in it. best aspect, suffers it to rage unchecked.
